STATEMENT The purpose of this policy is to outline the procedures that will be adopted by the Service in the event that it receives a complaint.

There will be many occasions when concerns can be resolved through the class teacher or secretary as a matter of routine. Where a complainant is dissatisfied after the initial contact and wishes to take the matter further, the first approach should be to advise the Headteacher who will initiate an investigation as appropriate. For serious matters the Headteacher may refer the matter directly to the Head of the New Rush Hall Group.

If after the investigation the complainant is dissatisfied with the decision or outcome, then the next step which would ordinarily be inform the Chair of the Management Committee). It will be necessary to avoid drawing in Governors at this appeal stage who could later be further involved in, for example, disciplinary procedures. This could lead to allegations of earlier involvement influencing outcome. In cases where there is a possible disciplinary element, immediate advice should be sought from the LA.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Upon receipt of a complaint, an immediate judgement needs to be taken as to whether a full response can be given within ten working days. If so an acknowledgement may not be necessary. If, however, time is needed to investigate the concern and it is unlikely that a full reply can be framed within ten days, then an acknowledgement should be sent to the complainant within 3 days explaining who is dealing with the complaint and when they can expect a full reply.

DEALING WITH THE COMPLAINTS

Consideration needs to be given to sources of information and advice to enable the investigations to be completed. It may just be the classroom teacher or it could be other agencies or support as appropriate eg. the Educational Psychologist, Area Health and Safety Coordinator, Human Resources, need to be consulted

A judgment about whether a meeting with the complainant could prove useful will need to be made on receipt of complaint

Meeting the complaint could be beneficial: -

- where more than one issue is involved;
- where there appear to be problems over communication;
- to seek clarification/evidence.

TIME SCALES

It is intended that a 10-day turn-round is appropriate for full response to complaints will be followed.

INTERIM RESPONSES

In cases where it will not be possible to provide a full reply within 10 days (see 'Acknowledgement' heading above) an indication should be given as to when a reply will be sent. That deadline should be realistic and achievable and should normally be within a four-week period. If, for whatever reason, a response is not possible after the four-week period, an interim response should be sent to the complainant explaining the reasons for the delay (perhaps the complexity of the case or the need to seek advice from other agencies), explaining progress to date and offering a revised deadline.

FINAL DECISION

Even if the final outcome is conveyed orally to the complainant, it may be better to confirm this in writing. A clear explanation should form part of the final decision. Lack of explanation is often a grievance in itself. The Headteacher will make a decision on this.

FOLLOW-UP

Arguably it is good customer care practice to follow-up the decision with the complainant as appropriate.

LEARNING FROM EXPERIENCE

If the whole procedure is to be seen as constructive it is important to see whether any lessons can be learnt and improvements made e.g better communication links, change to work patterns, etc. An established pattern of complaints can also be invaluable in identifying areas for attention. By being prepared to change and make improvements in this way, the school will become more effective, more trusted and feel a closer part of the community.

The Headteacher will monitor complaints received once a term.

STATUTORY COMPLAINTS

The following list identifies those matters which are outside the scope of the Service's own complaints procedure. They are matters where processes have already been specified by the LA and which must be followed.

1. ADMISSIONS
2. AWARDS
3. CHILD PROTECTION
4. THE CURRICULUM AND RELIGIOUS EDUCATION
5. EXCLUSION OF PUPILS
6. FINANCE
7. HEALTH AND SAFETY
8. HOME TO SCHOOL TRANSPORT
9. SPECIAL EDUCATIONAL NEEDS

Generally, if complainants are not satisfied with the response given by the Service and/or the LA, they can complain to the Secretary of State for Education under section 68 of the Education Act 1944, if actions have been "unreasonable" or under section 99, if they allege that statutory duties have not been properly discharged.

Complaints can also be made to Members of the Council and to Members of Parliament especially regarding policy issues. There may be the opportunity for complaints to the Commission for the Local Government (the ombudsman) - but not for internal school matters.
